

DUYOG KABATAAN: EMPOWERING YOUTH THROUGH MENTAL HEALTH AWARENESS FESTIVAL

01

INTRODUCTION

Youth participation in mental health programs in Brgy. Tibungco is low. The youth sector (15–25 years old) remains vulnerable to stress, anxiety, and depression, but stigma, lack of awareness, limited inclusivity, and low motivation hinder their engagement. As a result, mental health concerns remain unaddressed, reducing the effectiveness of current programs.

CURRENT SOLUTIONS

Source: @nycpilipinas on instagram

Current solutions encompass seminars, psychosocial programs, awareness campaigns, and youth-centered activities by the CSWDO and partners; like the 'Unlad Kabataan Program'. However, the formal and lecture-based nature of these programs may hinder engagement among youth.

CONCLUSION

The proposed Mental Health Festival Week aims to create a more inclusive, engaging, and sustainable approach to youth mental health awareness in Barangay Tibungco. By combining advocacy with creative and interactive activities, the project seeks to reduce stigma, improve emotional well-being, and strengthen support systems within the community.

In the long term, the initiative hopes to foster a culture of openness, resilience, and empowerment.
